10 YEAR PARTNERSHIP WITH CCTV PROVIDER

We're pleased to be marking 10 years of a working partnership with our CCTV provider Videcom Security Ltd.

Since the partnership began, Videcom Security Ltd has designed & installed a purpose-built CCTV security control suite along with more than 400 cameras across our sites in Scunthorpe, Teesside, Skinningrove and Immingham as part of our Security Transformation Plan. Allowing for a global system approach which in turn allows us to access any camera from any of our sites from any single user interface, something which wasn't previously deemed possible.

The company has also introduced AI technologies into our systems, improving our efficiency and enhancing our monitoring capabilities across all our connected sites.

Ian Steedman, Security & Asset Protection Manager, said: "British Steel has worked with Videcom Security Ltd for over 10 years, and throughout this time they have consistently demonstrated professionalism, expertise, and a commitment to delivering high-quality solutions.

"Their dedication to customer satisfaction and reliable project delivery has made them a valued long-term partner for British Steel."

Danny Harsley, Director and Northern Engineering Manager for Videcom Security Ltd, said: "From our first major security system upgrade and control room design and installation approximately 10 years ago, through to our most recent project completed just days ago, our relationship has been built on a foundation of trust, collaboration, and mutual respect.

"We greatly value the partnership we have developed over the last 10 years and look forward to continuing to provide innovative, reliable security solutions and dedicated support for many years to come."
